

24th National Home and Community Based Services Conference

The Spirit of Independence

September 28 – October 1, 2007
Westin Boston Waterfront Hotel
Boston, Massachusetts

Come and experience exceptional learning and networking opportunities for professionals who administer and operate home and community based services programs throughout the country.

The National Association of State Units on Aging and the Massachusetts Executive Office of Elder Affairs together with an outstanding national committee of experts in the field of home and community based services field will convene the 24th National Home and Community Based Services Conference, “The Spirit of Independence” in Boston, Massachusetts. The National Home and Community Based Services Conference has earned a stellar reputation for bringing together our nation’s leaders in the field to showcase, inform and discuss the most current issues and topics in home and community based services. Participants will hear about national trends, federal initiatives, state policy directions, and local grant programs. Best practices from the host state of Massachusetts, the broader New England area and the nation will be featured.

Each year, the conference hosts hundreds of participants representing federal, state and local policymakers, and professionals who design, administer and operate HCBS programs for persons of all ages and abilities. Join administrators, direct service professionals in government, non-profit, healthcare, and long term care organizations. You will engage with researchers and educators. Learn from the experiences of county public health and social service providers, aging and disabilities service providers, housing experts and consumers of HCBS services and supports.
